Barclay College Launches New Online Courses

Louisville, KY, January 12, 2005 - Dr. Denzil Edge, President/CEO of The Learning House, Inc. is pleased to announce the new partnership with Barclay College to develop a virtual campus currently featuring online courses in general education. Starting January 12, 2005, Barclay College will offer two general education courses in Mathematics and Science. Dr. David Hietala, President at Barclay College, had the following to say in regard to the online courses: "We are pleased to be able to offer this new learning venue to students in their various locations, both on the Haviland campus and from the convenience of home. Barclay College has always prized academic rigor with practical application and these new courses bring both to students." Dr. Edge is also well-pleased with the kick-off of Barclay's virtual campus, stating: "Learning House, Inc.'s distance learning technologies will enable Barclay College to offer courses to students living anywhere in the world and we are excited to help them with this new learning process."

About Barclay College

The mission of Barclay College is to prepare students in a Bible-centered environment for effective Christian life, service and leadership. Barclay College is a four year interdenominational institution of higher learning which believes that education contributes to all areas of the individual's life, giving the educated person increased ability to live a life that is orderly, peaceful, purposeful, productive and in harmony with God. Founded in 1917, the college has an 85 year history of excellence in preparing students for ministry and profession. Because of its unique mission, Barclay College seeks to integrate each course of study with the truths found in Scripture in order to develop a well balanced biblical worldview. Barclay College offers students ten different majors as well as preparation for several careers through its Bachelor's programs. The College also offers Associate degrees designed to give students a basic introduction to college education, the Bible and general studies.
